

$5.00 For A Name

Having one of our new preparations ready to place on sale, and not having decided upon a name, we will therefore offer a prize of

$5.00 TO THE PERSON SUGGESTING THE MOST APPROPRIATE NAME

This preparation is used as a "Cold Salve"—is very effective in treating colds, sore throat, bronchitis, croup etc.

It is composed of such valuable ingredients as Eucalyptus, Menthol, Oil Mustard, Methyl Salicylate, Camphor and Turpentine incorporated in a suitable base.

THE FOLLOWING RULES WILL GOVERN THE CONTEST

1. Contest will close Saturday evening, February 11th.
2. Any one can suggest as many names as they wish.
3. Any name that is copy-righted or now in use, will be rejected.
4. The Federal Law does not permit the use of the word cure.
5. Names must be brought to Read, Wager and Gorsuch Drug Store where they will be numbered and placed in the Contest Box.

The names suggested for this preparation will be considered and prize awarded by number.

Mr. H. M. Jay, Mr. Robert Bissonnette and Prof. H. R. Durow will act as judges.

A little time, and a little thought may win you the prize.

READ, WAGER & GORSUCH

The Rexall Store

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

INTERESTING ITEMS CONCERNING HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CITY

Mr. Q. C. Poorman is visiting relatives in Hillsdale.

Miss Audrey Reed spent Saturday in Toledo.

F. J. Spencer was in Albion, Ind., Monday on business.

Miss Ruby Holman spent Sunday with her parents north of town.

John Dixon of Oak Harbor, was a week-end guest of friends here.

Dr. and Mrs. Bernath spent Saturday and Sunday in Toledo.

Mrs. Barbara Frysa spent last Wednesday with friends in Archbold.

Mrs. Nate Robinson spent several days last week with friends in Toledo.

Mr. Clarence Jordan of Toledo spent the week end with home folks.

Mrs. Arthur Gorsuch who has been ill for several weeks is improving slowly.

Mrs. Judson McClarren and daughter Vera were Toledo shoppers Saturday.

Mrs. Margaret Omlor returned Saturday from a visit with her sisters in Kendallville and Butler, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Garrett and son Lloyd of Toledo spent over Sunday with friends and relatives here.

Frank Hoffman of Canton spent several days this week with his brother Clate Hoffman and family.

Miss Mae Miley of Toledo was an over Sunday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Miley.

Miss Bertha Gass and Miss Mary A. Roth of Archbold were married at the Methodist parsonage on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Barbara Frysa fell on ice in front of Fink and Hauser's Drug Store Saturday and injured the elbow of her left arm.

The Loyal Women's Class of the Christian Church will hold a market of baked goods at the Republican office, Saturday, January 28th.

Sunday afternoon at about five o'clock the fire department was called to the Dickson home on Leggett St. Very little damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Moyer attended the funeral of Mrs. Sally Jones in Morenci, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Johnson and daughter Sarah, of Delta spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Johnson.

Theo. Fouty and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Andrews of Lyons and Mrs. Ada Cochran.

Misses Vera and Alda Fouty and Carl Lillich and Arthur Williams spent Sunday evening at the home of Howard Andrews in Delta.

Mrs. Eva Grose and Mrs. Golda Funkhouser spent last Thursday in Toledo the guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Grose.

Mrs. Frank Faust returned to her home in Lima Thursday after caring for her father, F. L. Fannomann, the past five weeks.

Mrs. Geo. McClain of Rensselaer, Ind., arrived Thursday for an indefinite stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fannomann.

Mrs. F. L. Donat entertained friends at a one o'clock luncheon Thursday, at her home on East Oak Street honoring Mrs. C. M. Bulger of Toledo.

Miss Celia Fouty very pleasantly entertained eight Junior girls at a pot luck supper at her home on Elm Street last Thursday evening. The table was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

The members of the Shakespeare Club entertained at a farewell dinner party at the home of Mrs. R. B. Darby in honor of Mrs. Mary Greenleaf who expects to make Elkhart, Ind., her future home.

Prof. C. J. Biery of Bowling Green, Ohio spent last Friday at the home of Dr. J. F. Outcalt. He was on his way to St. Joseph, Mo., to attend the funeral of a sister. He stopped over night Tuesday evening of this week on his return and visited with friends.

Misses Alma Fink and Flossie Harper very pleasantly entertained a number of friends at a pot luck supper at the home of the latter, Friday evening for the pleasure of Miss Mary Lehman who is soon leave for Chicago. Miss June Gorsuch was an out-of-town guest.

WOMAN'S CLUB January 31st Book Review

Mrs. Eliza Scott, Mrs. Minnie Taft Music

NOTICE K. O. P's.

Big social night, Tuesday evening January 31st. Eats and plenty of entertainment. Starts at 7 o'clock. COME.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH Wauseon — Morning sermon at 9:00.

Bible School at 10:30 a. m. Evening Service at 7:00.

North Dover — Bible School at 9:30 a. m.

Morning sermon at 10:30. Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. Ridge—Bible School at 9:30 a. m.

METHODIST CHURCH S. R. Dunham

Church School at 9:15 a. m. Junior Church at 10:30 a. m.

Morning Worship at 10:30. Sermon subject, "Understanding the Scriptures, The Book of Job, with some references to Mr. Wells' modern version, 'The Unfolding Fire'."

Epworth League at 6:00 p. m. Topic: "Exploring Main Street." Miss Florence Stinchcomb, leader.

Evening Worship at 7:00 p. m. Sermon subject, "Understanding the Scriptures, The Book of Esther."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH Bible School 9:30 a. m., E. H. Jordan and his class of boys will have charge of the school next Sunday.

Worship 11:00 a. m., sermon, "Religion One-Hundred Years Ago."

Christian Endeavor 6:00 p. m. A large group of young people enjoyed the interesting program last Sunday.

The president of the Society leads next Sunday.

Evangelistic Service, 7:00. Our night services are attracting the young people. You will find an hour of enjoyment and helpfulness. Come in next Sunday. Sermon "My Best Friend in Wauseon."

Go to church every Sunday in February.

REDUCED FARES TO FARMERS WEEK

Anyone desiring to attend Farmers Week to be held at the Ohio State University in Columbus, on the week beginning January 30th, should apply to the County Agent for a certificate which will enable them to obtain a reduced rate of a fare and a half for the round trip.

A wonderful program has been prepared and speakers will appear on the program from all parts of the United States, who are authorities on their subjects. There will be a meeting of especial interest to milk producers on January 31st. If you desire to go and will call upon the County Agent's office you will be mailed a certificate.

Township Farm Bureau Meetings a Success

The series of Farm Bureau meetings which have been held, one in each township in the County, last week, were a decided success, both from the standpoint of attendance and the enthusiasm displayed by the membership.

The work of the State and National Organizations for the past year was reviewed in such a way as to bring the results of organized agriculture back to the individual farmer on his farm.

Frank M. Glasgow, representing the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, who has been speaking at these meetings expressed himself that Fulton County was to his mind one of the active and hard-working Farm Bureau counties in the State, and also stressed the point that every member must do his part in his respective township if the Farm Bureau was to accomplish the purpose for which it was organized.

The Farm Bureau committee in each township this week is making an effort toward increasing the membership and collecting of this year's membership dues. They are going out in groups of three or four so that they can visit their neighbors and be more effective in their solicitations.

Reports from the County Farm Bureau Treasurer show that the numbers are paying up very promptly and that new members are being added daily.

R. A. Cave, County Agent, Fulton County, Ohio

IS YOUR SUBSCRIPTION DUE?

TUESDAY CLUB

January 31st

Hostess — Sarah Blake

Music

Roll Call, My Favorite Movie Star

Moving Picture Industry

Mabel Pettit

Moving Pictures in Education and

Morals Dora Kolb

Reading Henrietta McKibben

Parliamentary Law Elizabeth Ruppert

Appointment of Program Committee

COMING

Strickland W. Gillilan, lecturer and humorist chosen from 50 organizations will appear at the High School next week.

OBSERVER CHANGES

M. L. Gay resigns as editor and manager of The Morenci Observer.

Mr. Gay became associated with

The Observer in August 1921 succeeding

Mr. Henry Harris.

The Observer of the future will be controlled by The Observer Co. Mrs.

Nellie C. Bacon, widow of the late

Geo. C. Bacon, holding the controlling interest.

VALUES

By CAROL FARMER.

(By 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Alice swayed unresistingly with every movement of the elevated train.

Two weary women to try to protect her from the jolts caused by the proximity of her fellow sufferers. Despite her pallor and evident exhaustion, her face shone flower-like above her shabby fur.

"Tired, Alice?"

Her companion clumsily tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

The girl felt that if he touched her again she would scream. Tonight more than ever she seemed to typify all the things she hated with every fiber of her being, all the sorceries which so far had made up her life.

All about her was the same apathy; the self-evident signs of a struggle for a roof over one's head and enough to cover one's nakedness of body if not of spirit.

She tried to bring her hard-won philosophy into play.

She had her health and Joe, and a momentary pang of compunction smote her. In all the world he was the only one who really cared anything about her. To all the hustling, pushing throng she was nothing but a mere person.

In the deep recesses of her soul she knew that in marrying Joe she was not being true to her higher self. She knew it would mean the end of all her striving for some of the beauty and joy of life. No matter how hard she tried she could never make up for the things she had lost.

She tried to steady her as she was almost swept off her feet between the human maelstrom.

When the fighting to get off and those getting on like two mighty streams, each determined to have the right of way.

THE OCEANIC LADIES QUINTET

The Oceanic Ladies Quintet, which is to be heard on the W. H. S. Lecture Course, January 30, 1922, is an orchestra with a history. For three years the company entertained in lecture and chautauqua and then came a year devoted to the amusement of American soldier boys in France and England. Later the members of the orchestra were honored by being chosen from 50 organizations to represent American lady musicians in a concert trip which included more than 70 programs in New Zealand. The Quintet expects to make a trip to the Orient in the near future. Under the auspices of a group of Japanese business men who desire to introduce American orchestral music into their country.

A GOOD RESOLUTION

In conversation with a well known local man a few days ago he told us that he had made but one resolution at the beginning of the new year, and that was that he would take more pride in Wauseon during the months to come than he took in the months already gone.

We believe it is the best resolution we have heard of. And if ALL of our citizens would resolve to do the same thing just think what we would have to point to a year from now. The greatest trouble with smaller towns and cities of America today is the "don't care" type. That is, citizens who are satisfied to let things take their course. Sooner or later, when things do not go to suit them, they develop into snobs. And we all know how quickly a town or community loses the respect of everyone once the knucklers get to swinging their hammers. But in the town where men and women do care, where they take an interest in seeing that streets and walks and gutters are kept in repair; that school buildings and public buildings and the churches are kept in good repair, inside and out; where the knocker finds his seed of discontent being sown on stony ground and he quickly moves on to some other community, or learns to keep his mouth shut.

It is the easiest thing in the world to take pride in your home town, and to stop a few minutes talk every day with your neighbors about what more is needed to make it still better. It doesn't cost anything to boast of your town's advantages to a stranger, or when you are in another community. All these little things count in the course of a year, and especially when we are all doing it. Boasting the home town gets to be contagious. Pretty soon you'll find outsiders joining in and doing the same thing. The returns are too great to be estimated. So that why we believe the resolution to take more pride in your home town this year than you did last year is the best one you could make.

DEATHS IN NEAR-BY TOWNS

OTTAWA — Albert Beucher, age 32, died January 13th, of Sugar Diabetes.

LIBERTY CENTER — James Ingledie died Tuesday January 16th from paralysis.

WEST UNITY — Lydia Glover Borton, died January 9th, aged 82 years, 7 months and 21 days.

Willard Combs, died January 9th, aged 80 years.

MORENCI — Mrs. Lavina M. Cottrell, aged 77 years, died January 17th.

NAPOLEON — Miss Luella Koponehofer, died January 12th, age 23 years.

Earl Homan, age 43 years died Jan. 15th at Memorial Hospital.

BITS O' NEWS

BRYAN — Eight auto drivers who failed to have 1922 tags on their cars last Monday were arrested by local officers.

BRYAN — Leroy Rocky, 24, committed suicide by blowing out his veins with a shot gun last Tuesday morning. Rocky had apparently become mentally deranged following a visit to Bryan in November, when he drank some moonshine whiskey.

METAMORA — S. E. Hinkle's big barn was completely destroyed by fire on his farm at Lyons last Saturday.

DELTA — The house owned by P. C. Smith and occupied by Wm. Kennedy was practically burned to the ground last Monday evening. The origin of the fire is unknown.

NAPOLEON — One hundred and fifty of the former employees of the D. T. and I. railroad, who were laid off in December have been called back for train crew service.

NAPOLEON — Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Westhoven, a son, Lowell Joseph, Friday January 13th. Congratulations.

ARCHBOLD — Ray V. Chase received the appointment of postmaster last Monday evening.

GRAND OPENING

Prof. H. H. Mittenthal of Detroit, teacher of Ball Room dancing cordially invites you and your company to attend his dancing school and assemblies every Friday, opening January 27th, Wauseon City Hall. Music by Pottery Orchestra of Bowling Green. Admission $1.10, extra ladies 30 cents including War Tax. Class instruction private 7:30 to 9:00, dancing to 12:00. Private lessons by appointment afternoons only. The Terrace, Fox Trot, College Walk, Glide Waltz will be taught. Rates, gents, 8 lessons, $8.00, ladies, $6.00. Paid in two payments if desired. Enrollment opening night if possible. Class for beginners and advance pupils, also married people as well as young people. Age makes no difference. Children less will open Friday afternoon, February 3rd, 4:00 to 5:30. $5.00. Paid in two payments if desired. The Professor will demonstrate the new dances at every assembly.

NOTICE

A fine litter of Collie pups will be shown in the window of the E. F. Hanson Feed Store this week. The people who wanted a pup can see them there and apply to Mr. F. W. Avery at Avery Inn.

AT THE MOVIES

Friday and Saturday Jan. 27-28

VIVIAN MARTIN

In

"THE SONG OF THE SOUL"